State Bureau To Help In Identification

Galatia Resident
Reports Brother
Missing for Year

Deputy Sheriff Everett N. Sneed and Harrisburg Police Chief Ross Lane left this morning for Springfield with the remains of a person found in wild, copperhead country in the extreme south part of the county.

They will turn over the bones and clothing to the State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation, which will try to help local authorities in solving the mystery of who the person was and what happened to him.

Yesterday Coroner Elmer M. Gibbons talked with James Christman, head of the state criminal identification department, and Christman said a man would be sent here today. Gibbons said he believed the dead person was a small man, middle aged or older.

Reports Brother Missing

However, later, State's Attorney Robert V. Wilson received a call from Springfield which asked that the remains be taken to Springfield and the two officers left this morning.

There was only one development in the case this morning. Sheriff William T. Barrett said that Ted Allen of Galatia came to his office and reported that his brother, James, had been missing more than a year. The brother, he said, is a small person, about 46 years old, five feet, five inches tall, and having gray hair.

Nearly all of a human skeleton, and the clothing that had been worn, were brought to the sheriff's office late yesterday following a search of the dry bed of Rocky creek in the southeastern part of Independence township, about a half mile north of the Pope county line.

Skull Found First

The search was prompted by the finding of a skull in the creek bed Monday afternoon by George Wilkins and his son, Ralph, of Carrier Mills, who were walking up the creek after hunting for gentian plants to get the roots, which are used for medicinal purposes by some.

They picked up the skull, which had part of the flesh and a bit of hair on one side of it, and brought it to Harrisburg Monday night, giving it to the sheriff.

The small features of the skull indicated at first that it might be of a woman. However, the result of a search by officers yesterday

Negro Pupils Turned Away At Sturgis, Ky.

Crowd Cheers
Return to Strict
School Segregation

By United Press

A short-lived and riotous experiment in integrating a high school at Sturgis, Ky., ended today amidst the cheers of a white crowd that gathered to witness the return to strict segregation of the school.

In Washington, an all-southern congressional investigation into integration of public schools in the nation's capital got under way today. The two northern members of the House subcommittee making the study failed to show up for its beginning.

Eight Negro children came to school at Sturgis as they have for two weeks under protective custody of National Guard or state police. Today's arrival was different. They were met by Principal Earl Evans who read them an order from the school board saying the Negroes were attending that school illegally.

The Negroes, who had been escorted to the school by Lt. Col. Clarence C. Burch of the Kentucky National Guard and two other guardsmen, left quietly by automobile.

As their car moved slowly thru the crowd, a middle-aged woman ran close behind beating on the trunk with her fists. Another woman cried out to the Negroes: "Don't you ever try that no more."

May Be Court Fight

Nearby Clay, Ky., set the pattern for the Sturgis action by barring four Negroes on grounds the school board had not approved the integration.

A crowd of more than 200 assembled in a cold, drizzling rain to see whether the same plan would work at Sturgis. It did, although there was a chance Negro groups might go to court later to fight the decision.

Clarence Mitchell, NAACP Washington director, charged that today's race hearing there, headed by Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga.) was in the hands of "bigots." He warned that it may cost the Democratic Party votes of northern Negroes in November.

Gov't to Buy Surplus Eggs

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Agriculture Department announced Tuesday it will start buying surplus eggs to bolster declining prices.

This will be the first egg purchase program since 1952.

Stratton Blamed for Major Scandals at Democratic Rally

Bonjean, Mallett,
Congressman Gray
Head Program Here

"The major issue of the state campaign in Illinois is rapidly developing into the charge of responsibility of Governor Stratton and his Republican teammates for the major scandals of the Stratton administration: namely the Stratton-Hodge scandal, the Stratton-Howell road scandal and the Nickell-Dunbar school lunch hauling contract scandal," a large crowd attending the Democratic meeting in Harrisburg Tuesday evening was told by Roscoe Bonjean.

Heading the program were Democratic candidates for state office Roscoe Bonjean, nominee for lieutenant governor, and David Mallett, nominee for secretary of state.

Congressman Kenneth Gray and Saline county candidates, Robert Wilson for state's attorney, Jimmy Burroughs for circuit clerk, and James Thornton for coroner were also present, with Cong. Gray speaking briefly.

Expanding on the Hodge scandal, Bonjean said, "Governor Stratton still owes a long overdue explanation to the people of Illinois of why he gave Orville Hodge an extra couple of million dollars of the taxpayers' money to play around with during the second year of Orville Hodge's term as State Auditor."

"Specifically the people want and have a right to know why Governor Stratton gave Orville Hodge an extra $696,300 of the taxpayer's money, an increase of

Riot Hospitalizes 15 Sailors, Marines

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP)—A "rock 'n' roll" riot hospitalized 15 sailors and Marines Tuesday night when 100 fist fights suddenly broke out at a dance at a newly renovated enlisted men's club.

Beer bottles, beer cans and beer pitchers were thrown through the windows of the club which was recently remodeled at a cost of more than $40,000.

Some 1,500 sailors and Marines and their wives and women companions were involved in the melee which erupted when the couples were dancing to the music of "Fat's" Domino's orchestra.

Bulganin Favors Summit Talks

MOSCOW (UP)—Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin said in an interview released today he is willing to join a summit conference of the Big Four plus India and Egypt to settle the Suez dispute.

Bulganin made the statement in answer to questions submitted by J. Kingsbury Smith of International News Service. The Soviet news agency Tass released the text.

Bulganin was asked whether the Soviet Union would favor a meeting of the heads of government to settle the Suez problem.

He replied, "The Soviet government has already expressed its opinions of a just and peaceable settlement of the Suez problem by negotiation."

"In order to facilitate such settlement the Soviet government is prepared to participate in a conference of the heads of government of Egypt, India, France, Britain and the United States and the U.S.S.R."

WASHINGTON (UP)—The State Department today gave a cool reception to Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin's suggestion that the Big Four plus Egypt and India hold a conference to settle the Suez crisis.

Eisenhower to Deliver TV Speech Tonight

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower will carry his drive for re-election to the nation tonight in the first televised speech of his campaign.

The President planned to talk about peace—and what his administration has done to achieve it.

He also was expected to strike back at Democratic charges that his administration is losing the cold war to the Communists.

He may well say something about the Suez crisis. He undoubtedly will have received last minute reports from the new London Suez conference before speaking.

The President's 30-minute address—first of a series of major national TV and radio talks—will be carried (7:30 p. m. CST) by the Columbia Broadcasting System. He will speak from Broadcast House here.

The Republican National Committee is paying the radio-TV bill. It is estimated at about $80,000.

First Campaign Speech

The President formally opened his campaign last week with a carnival-like picnic at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm for GOP leaders.

But the picnic was more of a family pep rally than a public affair. The President's speech tonight is his first major national address since he accepted the GOP presidential nomination in San Francisco last month.

Circuit court continued today with the lawsuit, C. E. Weldon vs. Ellis I. Frencher.

Sale of Power to Joppa Results
In Higher Revenue

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Central Illinois Public Service Co. today was ordered by the Illinois Commerce Commission to reduce its electric rates $1,100,000 a year effective Sept. 15.

The reductions will save residential customers $650,000 a year and commercial customers $450,000 a year, the ICC said.

CIPS serves 507 communities including Charleston, Effingham, Hoopston, Lawrenceville, Mattoon, Olney, Palestine, Paxton, Robinson, Benton, Carbondale, Shelbyville, Taylorville, Carterville, Tuscola, Watseka, Harrisburg, Herrin, Marion, Beardstown, Canton, West Frankfort, Griggsville, Jerseyville, Lewistown, Macomb, Mount Sterling, Pittsfield, Quincy.

ICC Chairman George R. Perrine said the rate reductions were based on two factors and were the result of conferences which began several months ago.

He said the two factors involved in the reduction could not be foreseen by the commission when it fixed CIPS' rates in 1954 and that the two factors resulted in greater revenues for CIPS than could be anticipated when the rates were fixed.

Joppa Sales a Factor

"The most important factor," Perrine said, "was the company's participation in the sale of power by the Joppa generating plant to the Atomic Energy Commission's plant at Paducah, Ky. . . . At the time of the 1954 rate case, the company (CIPS) anticipated a substantial reduction in the amount of power to be furnished. This would have resulted in a reduction or cessation of company revenues from that source."

However, Perrine said, sales to the atomic energy plant continued and "revenues from these sales . . . have continued although on a reduced basis."

Perrine also said increased sales by CIPS to industrial, commercial and residential users of power "have resulted in revenues beyond that anticipated when the 1954 rate order went into effect."

Perrine said the 1954 rate order set rates to allow CIPS a "fair return" of 5.9 per cent on the value of its plant, to an annual revenue of $3,634,000.

The reductions ordered today will reduce the company's return to the 5.9 per cent mark, he said.

He said acceptance by CIPS of the reduction order has "eliminated the necessity for a full scale rate case which would be expensive to CIPS stockholders, its rate payers and to tax payers generally."

Maine's Democratic Victory

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

Whatever psychological advantage goes to the party that draws first blood must be given to the Democrats for their victories in the Maine general election.

Democratic Gov. Edmund Mus-kie's re-election was, of course, expected, even though this triumph makes him only the second Democrat since the Civil War to win a second term in the State House.

More striking was the certain election of one Democratic congressman and the evident election of a second.

It is necessary to say "evident"
because James C. Oliver's margin over incumbent Rep. Robert Hale, Republican, is so small that a recount is inevitable.

If Oliver holds his seat, the Democrats will have taken two of Maine's three congressional berths. It was 1934 when a Democrat was last sent to Congress from that state.

Republican National Chairman
Leonard Hall has been cautioning his party against complacency in this campaign. The Maine results should go far toward dissolving that mood among the GOP.

All the Republican candidates in Maine urged strongly that they be supported as a vote of confidence in President Eisenhower.
The President himself wrote a letter to a weekly newspaper publisher suggesting that voters in the state should vote for all the Republicans running.

The two GOP senators, Margaret Chase Smith and Frederick Payne, skipped the Republican convention to stay home and battle for the ticket.

Despite these efforts, the Democrats scored. They would be well advised not to assume from this, however, that Mr. Eisenhower himself will suffer defeat in Maine at Adlai Stevenson's hands.

Election history is crammed with evidence that voters' support of congressional or gubernatorial candidates does not necessarily indicate how they will vote for president. As is well known,
" Ike" won overwhelmingly in 1952 while the GOP barely squeaked through to control the 83rd Congress.

Muskie's re-election was forecast because in the view of impartial judges his first administration has been successful. He took a generally non-partisan tack, apparently a wise course in a state normally Republican. And most papers, usually with the GOP, either held neutral or praised Muskie.

Muskie may have benefited,
too, from the Democrats' determined effort to counter Republican argument that the election would be a test of Mr. Eisenhower's stature. They insisted the election was a local affair.

Having thus insisted, the Democrats might normally find it hard to make convincing claims that the victories of Muskie and the two congressional candidates represent proof of a national trend.

But the fact is that Muskie's margin was much bigger (near 50,000) than in 1954 (21,000).
And winning two House seats went well beyond even the Democrats' fondest hopes.

Clearly the Republicans have been put on their mettle for the presidential and congressional battles coming to their climax in the next eight weeks.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Gaza Strip Seemingly Peaceful, But There Is No Peace In Near East; Arab World's Shame Over Defeat By Israel
Is Reason For Continuing Strife.

THE GAZA STRIP ON THE EGYPTIAN-ISRAELI BORDER.

—The word of greeting in Israel is "Shalom." The word of greeting in Arabic is "Salaam." Both mean "peace." Peace is so important to the people of the Near East that when they meet you they say "peace" and when they leave you they repeat: "Peace."

Yet there is no peace in the Near East.

Driving along the Gaza Strip toward the Dead Sea the other afternoon there seemed to be peace.
Fields of sorghum, patches of tobacco, carefully planted trees lined the road.

But off toward the Egyptian line you could see a cluster of houses surrounded by barbed wire
— a kibbutz.

The kibbutz, or cooperative farm settlement, is the real military outpost against Arab attack.
They are working outposts, operated by young, adventurous Jews, farmer-soldiers who work in the fields by day and guard the border by night — a border which is unmarked and unfortified and which raiding parties can cross almost at will.

But, as we drove south, the border seemed peaceful in the twilight.

Next morning we learned that 13 Egyptians and two Israelis had been killed in raids back and forth across the edge of the Gaza Strip.

THE DEAD SEA

The best time to drive to the Dead Sea is in the cool of the evening or at 5 a. m. before the sun is up. In the moonlight you can see black shadows creeping slowly along the barren hillsides. They are goat herds belonging to the Bedouin tribes that scratch out a living on the rockiest, most topsy-turvy desert country I have seen east of the Grand Canyon. You wonder why anyone should want to fight over it.

Though Arabs, the Bedouins are friendly to Israeli rule, give important intelligence information on the movement of Egyptian troops.

The southernmost tip of the Dead Sea, 1,286 feet below sea level, is probably the hottest place in the world — with daytime temperature seldom below 110 degrees. There, Abraham persuaded the Lord to save Lot's family when he destroyed the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, and you can understand how, in that heat, Sodom and Gomorrah were wicked enough to be destroyed.

Standing 100 feet or so above the Dead Sea is the pillar of salt into which Lot's wife was turned when she made the mistake of looking back. Not only Lot's wife, but everything around the Dead Sea is salt. The sand that lines the shores is rock salt, and the cliffs high above the shore are salt.

Across the Dead Sea are the hills of Moab, farthest point Moses was permitted to come when he led the children of Israel back to the Promised Land.

But tucked under the hills of Moab is an Arab village on the opposite shore of the Dead Sea.
It is in Jordanian territory, which illustrates the crazy-quilt manner in which the boundaries of Israel have been defined — or rather undefined.

REASON FOR ARAB IRE

The northern part of the Dead Sea is Jordanian, the southern part Israeli. The Sea of Galilee is all Israeli, though the Syrian border comes down to within 10 yards of the eastern shore. The Jordanian-Israeli border splits the city of Jerusalem into two parts.
Bethlehem, where Christ was born, is under the Arabs in Jordan.
Nazareth, where he grew up,
is in Israel, though populated by Arabs.

The border of Israel is so patchwork that the main airport of the country at Tel Aviv is only two and a half miles from the Jordan border, while the narrowest part of Israel is only seven miles wide.
This is between the Arab city of Tulcarim and Natanya, named for Nathan Strauss, the first public housing administrator under Roosevelt, which is on the Mediterranean.

The reason for these patchwork borders is that they were set at the farthest point the Arab armies retreated in the Israeli war of liberation in 1948.

What happened was this: When the British yanked their troops, their post-office personnel, their telegraph system and everything else out of Israel at the expiration of the British Mandate on May 14, 1948, the neighboring Arab nations of Syria, Lebanon, Jordan, Iraq and Egypt all converged on Israel.

And the Jews, with no organized army and few arms, performed a military miracle comparable to George Washington's defeat of the British.

KING FAROUK'S STAMP

The Jews won because, like the 13 colonies, they were defending a new home; and because Arab troops were partially mercenaries who didn't want to fight.

But King Farouk of Egypt was so confident that the overwhelming strength of the Arab armies would crush Israel from three sides that he had a special stamp printed in Cairo featuring his picture over the words "Tel Aviv."

He never got to Tel Aviv. On the contrary his army was pushed almost to the Red Sea, and would have been pushed farther had not the British intervened.

The real problem between Israel and the Arab states today is the shame of that defeat.

It was not poor equipment that caused the Arab debacle. It was the determination of a little band of Jews fighting for a new homeland.

The Arabs are not particularly concerned about more territory.
Several of them, notably Jordan
and Iraq, are underpopulated.
But the ignominious shame of the Arab world over being pushed back by little Israel is the real reason for today's hunger for revenge and for lack of peace in the Near East.

Institute Warns

Of Increasing Debt

NEW YORK — Any further substantial increase in consumer debt could touch off a general business recession, the American Institute of Management warned today.

An estimated two-thirds of the nation's families are in debt to a record sum of 29 billion dollars and are approaching the point where they no longer can increase their borrowing or are forced to stop all borrowing, the institute's quarterly bulletin said.

When this point is reached, the report continued, the results could be "disastrous particularly if installment debt goes much higher before that time comes."

United States is located at the naval base near Newport, R. I.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

The human body is made to withstand a great deal of shock. The delicate membranes and mechanisms of the eye are battered by thousands of tiny particles of dust. Many a man-made object which had to withstand the shock of the eye would be worn out in much less than a human lifetime. Our feet, our hands, our hearts withstand shocks beyond our understanding. The mind takes buffet-ing which would break down a rock-bound coast.

We accept the beating which befalls us without enough awareness of the stresses and strains which God has prepared us to withstand.

Instead of crying about our human weakness, we ought to thank God for our strength. We need to express our appreciation for the protection which is ours.

We need to add our human strength of will to the power of resistance which the Creator gave us. If we were to use the abilities which are latent in us we should be able to meet shock with more ease than we do.

Our fears, our worries, our suspicions weaken the inner powers which we have never used to their fullest extent.

Petroleum Products Lead Mineral Production in Illinois; Coal Second

URBANA, Ill. — The value of Illinois minerals produced during 1955 reached a total of $592,492,000, an increase of more than $69,000,000 over 1954, according to a new circular published by the Geological Survey division of the Illinois Department of Registration and Education.

Petroleum and its associated hydrocarbons led the field in value of output, accounting for 43 per cent of the state's total mineral production value. Coal provided 31 per cent of the total value, stone products accounted for 10 per cent, clay products nine per cent, sand and gravel four per cent, and fluorspar and metals, such as zinc and lead, three per cent.

The rise in petroleum production, began in 1954 after a 14-year period of gradual decline, is largely the result of secondary recovery practices, more effective in extracting oil than primary pumping methods, the circular points out.

Coal production, hard hit by the conversion of railroads to diesel power, began to increase during 1955 after several years of decline. Second in value among the state's minerals, coal showed an increase of about 10 per cent in output and 12 per cent in value. The increase is in part explained by the increase in demand for electric power and manufactured goods and by the high output of steel.

The Illinois fluorspar industry recovered from its 1954 slump during 1955, owing mainly to the demands for it as a fluxing agent in the aluminum industry. Fluorspar, of which Illinois is the nation's foremost producer, also is used in making steel, in ceramics, in acid manufacture, and in the production of organic chemicals.

The circular, "Mineral Production in Illinois in 1955," presents

Returns from Hospital Following Operation

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Abney have returned from St. Louis, where she underwent a major operation at the Barnes hospital. Her condition remains serious, Mr. Abney said, although she was permitted to return to their residence, 921 West Poplar, where he has both his residence and barbecue stand.

brief analyses of these and other economic trends and is illustrated by maps and tables. A directory of industrial minerals producers is included.

Dr. W. H. Voskuil, head of the mineral economics section of the Geological Survey, and W. L. Busch, assistant mineral economist, are the authors. The new circular is available from the offices of the Geological Survey in Urbana for the price of postage.

Reopened Friday Abbie's Barbecue

921 W. POPLAR

We have returned from Barnes hospital, St. Louis, and will be ready for business as usual Friday, health of my wife permitting.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of our husband and dad, Arthur Walker, who departed this life one year ago, Sept. 19, 1955:

The spring and summer have come and gone.
The time you loved so well,
And now the fall has just begun.
How our hearts ache no one can tell.

We tried so hard to help you
But all our efforts failed.
And then God in his love
The mystery unveiled.

We knew how much you suffered,
And it made us Oh! so sad.
Until God somehow showed us
A better home you had.

And then you looked to heaven.
Did you see Jesus, in the sky?
When you said "Don't get excited,
And please don't even cry."

Then you closed your eyes
In peaceful slumber to rest forevermore.
In the wonderful home of Our Saviour,
Up there on the Golden shore.

Mrs. Julia Walker and children. *70-1

Seversky to Speak at SIU

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Maj. Alexander de Seversky, one of the nation's leading advocates of strategic power, will deliver an address at Southern Illinois University Oct. 12.

Maj. Jack Aldridge, assistant professor of air science at Southern, said the Russian-born aeronautics expert has consented to a lecture appearance in order to present his latest views on "Air Power and National Security." The lecture, at 8 p. m. in Shryock Auditorium, will be free and open to the public. Aldridge said Seversky will answer questions from the floor following his address.

Seversky, author of such authoritative best-sellers as "Victory Through Air Power" and "Air Power: Key to Survival," will speak to the University's Air Force ROTC detachment in a closed session the morning of the 12th.

A World War I fighter ace for the Russian Air Force, Seversky came to the U. S. following the Russian revolution of 1918. He was appointed aeronautical engineer and test pilot for the U. S. Government.

In 1912 Seversky organized the Seversky Aero Corporation, forerunner of Republic Aviation. While serving as chief engineer for the company he developed many important aircraft devices. During World War II, he was appointed Special Consultant to the Secretary of War and in 1946 represented the Secretary at the Bikini atom bomb tests. In 1946 he was awarded the Medal for Merit — America's peacetime civilian award—and twice has won the Harmon Trophy.

An outspoken champion of strategic air power, Seversky has been called "a military genius comparable to Mahan and Clausewitz."

Delay in Trial of Injury Suits Scored

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — Is there too long a waiting period between filing of personal injury suits and actual trial of the cases?

Ben C. Cohen of Los Angeles, Calif., national president of the National Association of Claimants' Compensation Attorneys, criticized such delays at a conference sponsored by Marquette University.

He said many persons who file claims cannot afford to wait the long period sometimes required before trial. He said in many cases they have been forced to take any settlement an insurance company offered.

Eisenhower and Stevenson Hope for Vote Harvest in Farm Belt This Week End

NEWTON, Iowa (UPI)—President Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate, hope to harvest votes this weekend in the heart of the nation's farm belt.

Both presidential candidates were expected to use the National Field Days agricultural show to air their stands and views on a top issue of the 1956 campaign—the farm problem.

In 1952 both men used the National Field Days held at Kasson, Minn., to expound their views on a farm program.

President Eisenhower was to speak on Friday and planned only an "informal" talk. Observers felt he apparently was content to stand on the administration's farm program which included a soil bank, increased exports and more farm research.

The President's first major farm policy speech was to come next Tuesday in a nationally televised appearance at Peoria, Ill.

A full-dress speech on Saturday was planned by Stevenson in which he was expected to interpret the general farm plank adopted by the Democratic National Convention. He was expected to fill in some details on Democratic proposals for price supports.

Stevenson also may bring up Democratic charges that Mr. Eisenhower came out for 100 per cent of parity farm supports at Kasson four years ago and never delivered on his promise.

Many farm leaders felt that Stevenson might possibly give a repeat performance of Harry S. Truman in 1948, when the former president launched his "give-'em-hell"

Rep. Lane Bids To Retain Seat After Prison Term

BOSTON (AP)—Democratic Rep. Thomas J. Lane won renomination in the Massachusetts primary in a bid to become the first congressman in history to retain his seat after serving a prison term, returns showed today. Foster Furcolo won the Democratic nomination for governor.

Lane beat four opponents Tuesday in the 7th Congressional District where Democratic nomination is tantamount to election.

Furcolo, former congressman and one-time state treasurer, defeated former state Auditor Thomas H. Buckley of Abington by nearly 3 to 1. Furcolo, of Longmeadow, had been endorsed by the Democratic pre-primary convention last June.

Returns from 1,772 of the state's 1,949 precincts gave Furcolo 327,748 votes, Buckley 129,226.

Furcolo's Republican opponent in the Nov. 6 elections will be Lt. Gov. Sumner G. Whittier who was unopposed to succeed retiring GOP Gov. Christian A. Herter. The rest of the Republican statewide ticket also was unopposed.

Lane earlier this month completed a four-month sentence at a

THE LONG NIGHT

By MARTIN CAIDIN

THE STORY: At the Civil Defense control center, Colonel Buyers is organizing the various groups to fight the battle for survival following a sneak attack in which an atom bomb was dropped on the city of Harrington.

VIII

Buyers left his seat and moved down to Russell Winchester, his Reconnaissance Service Chief. Winchester stood before a large map of Harrington, marked with compass readings circling the city. Six red flags jutting from the map denoted the position of the reconnaissance teams he had hoped had moved out on the Yellow Alert. Winchester had little faith in fancy gadgets which reputedly might tell him where the bomb exploded. Instead, he had assigned six radio-equipped jeep crews to report on the Yellow Alert to pre-designated locations two miles beyond the city limits. When these teams saw the brilliant flash of the bomb they were to wait approximately 30 seconds, then emerge from their shelters to take compass readings of the boiling mushroom cloud.

Two red lines were already drawn from the flags marked Team Two and Team Five; the lines crossed each other in the tenement area of Harrington. Even as Buyers watched, a radioman handed Winchester a message from Team Three. . . the red line cut across the map, slicing through the other two red lines almost at the point where they joined. Team Six and Team Four reported almost simultaneously. The red lines traced their path across the map. Each line intersected all the others.

Winchester grunted to himself, then pointed to the map. "There she is, Al. Give or take 600 feet or so, the bomb went off just about . . . umm, just about here." He stabbed a black grease pencil at the map, drew a circle encompassing the five intersecting lines. "Use the intersection of Main St. and McGuire Ave. for map-plot zero. Accuracy, like I said, is give or take about 200 yards."

He walked back to his raised stand and resumed his seat next to Goldblum. Buyers picked up his desk microphone and turned the switch on "On." The loud-speaker system led to amplifiers in the operations room and to speakers in each room in the control center.

"Give me your attention," Buyers spoke. "Here is your map plot for ground zero. You will mark the intersection of Main St. and McGuire Ave. as zero. This is accurate within 200 yards or so. Main St. and McGuire Ave.

"It looks as if we have a high burst. We should have little or no radiation problems to contend with. If anything does show up, Radiological will pass the word on."

"I want fire, water, medical, rescue, public works, welfare, and police immediately for a conference at the large plotting map in the Operations Room. That's all."

He snapped the speaker button down, glanced at the steadily growing pile of messages Goldblum had screened for him, and climbed down from the stand. Already waiting at the large illuminated map were the map plotters, Dick Kraines, Vic Chittenden, and Henry Thompson; the latter had returned to the Operations Room at the sound of Buyers' voice over the loud-speakers and taken his place before the map.

His service chiefs were already assembling. Buyers shouldered his way through the group, picked up a long pointer and turned to his men.

Horace Mann PTA Program Outlined At First Meeting

The Horace Mann P.T.A. held its first meeting of the current year in the assembly of the school, Monday, Sept. 17.

The president, Mrs. Robert Rushing, presided, giving the purposes of the P.T.A. and outlining the goals to be reached. Standing committees and teachers were introduced.

The room count of parents present gave Mrs. Raymond Carroll's morning kindergarten the money prize offered for the highest percent of attendance.

The program chairman, Mrs. Morris Skaggs, acquainted the group with the programs to be carried out during the school year, 1956-57.

Room chairmen gave accounts of the membership enrollment in each room. Total membership to date registered 290, with the promise of an even greater number.

The 20-year-old charter was read which supports the following directives:

1. To carry on constructive work for better parenthood, better homes, better schools and better communities.
2. To refrain from all factional and partisan political activities.
3. To refuse consideration by the association of personal grievances.
4. To abstain from encroaching on administrative functions of the school.
5. To co-operate with the principal and the teachers in promoting the best interests of the school and community.

The meeting closed granting ample time for the patrons to confer with the classroom teachers.

SIU Selected to Offer Women's AF Training

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Women —bless 'em—have moved into one of the last remaining strongholds of male domination at Southern Illinois University—the Air Force ROTC program.

Col. Alexander R. MacMillan, commander of the SIU detachment, announced that the University has been selected as one of the first ten institutions in the nation to offer a Women's Air Force training program. First classes will begin this fall term.

"We hope to turn out 10 select WAF second Lieutenants annually beginning in June, 1958," Col. MacMillan said today. They will be assigned to active duty for three years."

Taking over as director of the new program is Lt. Nina Morrison, a WAF officer who transferred to Southern from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, where she worked in research and development.

Applicants will be screened by a board of officers from the SIU detachment. The first trainees will be selected on the basis of grades ("C" average or better), ability and interest. Lt. Col. Emmet Cockrum, director of training for Air Science, said that eventually WAF enrollment probably would number 75.

All selectees this fall will enter on the same level as their class—juniors going into Air Science III, sophomores into Air Science II, and so on.

Yankees Clinch Pennant with Mantle's Homer in 11th; Cards Tumble Dodgers, 6-5

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

The proud old Yankees, pennant winners again for the 22nd time in 36 years, completed one more champagne campaign today, but the tummy bubbles in that mad National League race were caused by just plain anxiety.

The cup of victory was doubly-bubbly for the Yankees in their celebration. For it was Mickey Mantle who clinched it all with his 50th homer in the 11th inning that provided a 3-2 victory over the White Sox. That made him the only man besides Babe Ruth, who ever reached that magic figure in a Yankee uniform. Moreover, the Yankees beat the only club with a mathematical chance to tie them and they beat them on their home ground, and with their best pitcher, Billy Pierce on the mound.

There was measured happiness for the Milwaukee Braves. They rose to within one percentage point of first place Brooklyn, with a 6-4 victory at Pittsburgh, produced on the margin of Johnny Logan's two-run single in the eighth, and saved by Bill Bruton's over-the-head catch of a ninth inning center field line drive with two Pirates on base. Despair in Brooklyn

But in Brooklyn there were only dregs of despair. Ken Boyer hit a two-run homer in the ninth to give St. Louis a 6-5 triumph in a game where the Dodgers had climbed courageously from behind to lead briefly in the seventh on a two-run homer by Gil Hodges. Boyer's blast came with two out. In two previous games where the Redlegs rose to challenge with two out in the ninth the Dodgers came back to win. But they weren't equal to the bounce Tuesday night.

Brooklyn still has a game advantage in the lost column and has two more games to play than Milwaukee, which gives the Dodgers a bigger winning potential. But now they were virtually tied again, whereas they had been a game in front.

Cincinnati faced virtual elimination. The Redlegs dropped two at Philadelphia where Curt Simmons and Robin Roberts gained 4-3 and 7-4 pitching triumphs. Wally Post hit two homers in the first game and Ed Bailey blasted a three-run homer in the second for Cincinnati, but again the Redlegs found they could not do it on power alone. They're now 4 1-2 games out with only nine more to play.

Braves Jitters
The Braves had jitters again at Pittsburgh and blew a 3-0 lead as Lew (Best Bet) Burdette was kayoed for the third straight time. But old pro Logan came through with the big hit and Bruton saved it.

Herb Score struck out 14 to win his 18th game, a four-hitter and Mike Garcia followed with a three-hitter to give Cleveland 1-0 and 6-0 triumphs over Washington, while Lou Skizas hit a ninth inning homer to defeat the Red Sox, 6-5, at Kansas City despite three hits including a homer by Ted Williams. Ray Boone's grand slam homer gave Detroit a 6-2 margin over Baltimore and 11 wins in 12 games in the other AL game.

The Giants, paced by Jackie Brandt who drove in five runs with four hits, including a homer, defeated Chicago, 8-2, after the Cubs took the first game, 4-2, on a four-hitter by Bob Rush.

WHO DO YOU WANT TO PLAY?—After a 45-minute discussion with Coach Red Sanders, foreground, and teammates, four UCLA seniors, limited to five games this season by a Pacific Coast Conference edict, decided which engagements they will participate in. The decision was left to the athletes concerned. This won't make it any easier on the foes they selected.

AFL-CIO Distributes Voting Records of Legislators For Pre-Election Analysis

WASHINGTON (UP)—Organized labor today had a major yardstick for measuring congressional candidates — a 10-year record of their votes on issues considered vital by the AFL-CIO.

The big labor organization distributed its pre-election analysis of the voting records of senators and representatives throughout the nation.

State and local AFL-CIO committees were certain to use the analysis as a major yardstick in deciding which congressional candidates to endorse in their areas.

The analysis said 14 senators—13 Democrats and 1 Republican—voted "right" between 1947 and 1956 on all 20 of the issues considered. It said six senators—all Republicans—cast no "right" votes on the 20 issues.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, Democratic vice presidential candidate, was listed as having voted "right" 94 per cent of the time. Out of 17 votes cast, the union said he voted "wrong" only once—when he supported a proposal to permit racial segregation in the armed services.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon's record was not reported because he no longer is a member of Congress.

Seventy-eight Democratic House members, who were marked on the basis of 19 similar but not always identical issues, had perfect scores by the union's standards. No Republicans did.

The AFL-CIO scored 35 Republican House members as "wrong" on all the votes on which they were recorded. There were no Democrats in that category.

The union graded the lawmakers on some strictly labor issues like the Taft-Hartley Act and the minimum wage law. It also included

Yankees Installed As Favorites Against Any Series Opponent

NEW YORK (UP)—The magic name of the Yankees installed them as automatic favorites to win the World Series with the bookmakers, no matter who their National League opponents may be.

In spite of the fact the Yankees lost the series last year to the Dodgers and that the National League not only has two straight triumphs in the World Series, but also in the All-Star game, the New Yorkers are the choice.

If the Dodgers are their opponents, the Yankees will be favored at 6-7. Against Milwaukee the price now is 7-8 and against Cincinnati 7 1/2-8 1/2.

No Cropping, No Grazing on Wheat Acreage Reserve

When Saline county farmers designate land to be put into the 1957 wheat acreage reserve, they should keep in mind the "no grazing, no cropping" provisions of the Soil Bank agreement, Herman Driskell, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee, said today.

Mr. Driskell emphasizes that no crop may be harvested from land designated for the 1957 acreage reserve, and none of the acreage may be grazed. If an approved cover crop other than grasses and legumes, Sudan, broomcorn, and sorghum, should mature as seed in 1957, the crop must be disposed of in such a way that it cannot be harvested.

The "no grazing" rule holds unless the farm is in a county where the Secretary of Agriculture, upon request from the Governor of the State, has granted permission to graze. Farmers will be notified of this permission in counties where it has been granted.

With this one exception, a penalty may be imposed on any producer who "knowingly and wilfully" grazes or harvests any crop from his reserve acreage in violation of his Soil Bank agreement, Mr. Driskell stated. In this case, the farmer is subject to a penalty equal to 50 per cent of the payment he would have earned for compliance with his agreement. In addition, he must forfeit or refund his payment under the agreement, he said.

Personnel are available at the ASC county office to fully explain all details of the program.
